

FLOZIRKUS

The common thread which runs through the life of Florian Stoechel is music. Born into the cauldron of Stuttgart/Germany he now lives in the Swiss countryside near the Alpes.

In the beginning of the 90ies he gave up on playing guitar, cut of the hair and switched behind the turntables as resident DJ in the Rockfabrik Ludwigsburg and as a tourist around clubs and festivals all over Europe.

Since his migration to Switzerland in the middle of the 00ies he's refining his sound with analog and digital equipment in his own studio. Stylistically the whole thing lies between Tech-, Dark-, Melodic-House to Techno, but stereotyped thinking is not his way. His roots in Metal, the early Trance and Techno scene and the countless hours visiting underground parties molded him.

His music, it's just like him – loud, certainly boisterous, dark, melancholic and sometimes infantile. You hear the dirt, feel the scratches, taste metalworking and smell the meadows of the Alpes.
